CG To Crackdown On Channel Fishing

Benny Randall At Fort Lewis

FORT LEWIS, — Army PFC Benny R. Randall, son of Mrs. Emma Randall, Hurley, is participating with other members of the 4th Division's 22d Infantry in a support mission for the Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) encampment here which ends Aug. 10.

Randall, a machinegunner in Company C of the infantry's 1st Battle Group, entered the Army in April 1962 and completed basic combat training at Fort Gordon, Ga.

The 24-year-old soldier is a 1958 graduate of Wade High School.

Bobbie B. Black Enters Seminar

FORT WORTH, Tex. — Bobbie B. Black of Pascagoula has been approved for admission to Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, according to Felix Gresham, director of admissions.

Pascagoula Coast Guard unit has been instructed by CG district commander to crackdown on offenders of federal laws which prohibit fishing boats from obstructing channels, BMC C. W. Slaughter, CG executive officer, said today.

Slaughter said complaints have been registered by boats which have been blocked by fishermen trolling in the channel. He also warned that fishermen with improper lights for night fishing will be fined.

Training Patrols

The local Coast Guard was kept busy last week with offshore training patrols and assisting fishing boats.

Returning from the patrols Tuesday, the patrol boat went to the assistance of a 115-foot pogy boat, the Captain Alex Lewis which had run aground on the west side of Chandeleur Island.

Reaching the scene early Wednesday morning, the patrol boat anchored and waited for daylight. At dawn the vessel could not be spotted.

About 7 a.m., another pogy boat, the Tiger Shark, reported her sister ship had refloated about 2:30 a.m., but the Coast

Guard was never notified, Slaughter said.

Again en route to Pascagoula, the boat answered a call from the Fortune, a 40-foot fishing vessel which had become disabled at Dog Key Pass. It was taken in tow and moored at a Pascagoula dock where pumping operations began on its flooded engine room.

The patrol boat moored at the unit dock Wednesday afternoon.

Patrols Rodeo

Over the weekend the CG crew and patrol boat participated in patrol duties at the three-day Alabama Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo at Dauphin Island and returned yesterday.

The only action reported by the local unit was locating and refloating a swamped 16-foot boat at Mobile point. The boat is being held at the Pascagoula station, and the owner has not been located, Slaughter said.

He said the boat, number AL-3455-UA, has a hole in the bottom, but otherwise is in good condition.

'Undressed' Rehearsal Staged In New Movie

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Not since the wild uncensored days of movie orgies and bacchanals had so much bare flesh been exposed on a Hollywood sound stage.

When the director called "action" some 60 actors and actresses peeled off terrycloth robes to portray a group of Swedish nudists. It was a scene to be remembered.

"This is an undressed rehearsal," said director Mark Robson.

But his wisecrack didn't get a laugh from his performers. Those who weren't shivering in the cool morning air were modestly trying to keep themselves covered up.

Because of the nature of the scene a uniformed MGM guard stood outside the stage door refusing admittance to anyone who couldn't prove he was an integral member of the company, which happened to be "The Prize."

It was a comedy sequence in which Paul Newman dashes into the nudist meeting to escape pursuing thugs. When he is forced to take off his clothes he almost wishes he'd been caught by the gunmen.

Newman, unlike anyone else in the scene, was allowed to keep a towel draped around his waist — a star's prerogative.

Special effects, which the studio asked to be kept secret, were employed to insure that the performers weren't embarrassed by being photographed altogether in the altogether.

All of the would-be nudist were covered from head to foot with pancake body makeup. One thing became immediately apparent, actors are among the world's most vaccinated people.

A still photographer from the studio publicity department, it appeared, was the most unpopular man on the lot. Each time he hove into sight lunging his camera the gals and guys turned their backs to him.

But he shouldn't have been upset. Moviegoers will only get a back view of the nudists when "The Prize" is screened in theaters.

Frank Wilks At Fort Lewis

FORT LEWIS, Wash. — Army Sgt. Frank Wilks, son of Mrs. Mary Wilks, Moss Point, is participating with other members of the 4th Division's 22d Infantry in a support mission for the Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) encampment here which ends Aug. 10.

Wilks, a squad leader in Company E of the infantry's 1st Battle Group, entered the Army in July 1952.

He attended Magholia High School.

Reserve Time Now Six Years

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Defense Department has cut the enlistment time from eight to six years for youths 17 to 18½ who sign up directly in the military reserves.

It also issued a draft call for 17,000 Army recruits in October. The draft, larger than in previous months, is needed to fill the gaps left by the above-normal number of draftees who entered the Army during the Berlin crisis of 1961, and now are being discharged, the Defense Department said.

Under the change in the reserve program, enlistees will spend less actual time in the reserve but will spend more time on active duty.

TENNIS BALL KILLS HIPPO

JAKARTA (UPI) — A tennis ball has killed a 15-year-old hippopotamus at the Bandung Zoo.

The official news agency Antara reported Monday that the animal — too heavy for 10 men to lift — died of internal injuries from a tennis ball lodged in its stomach.

Officials speculated that an idle visitor to the zoo might have thrown the ball into the animal's gaping mouth.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Officials said Monday that they were optimistic about chances of keeping U.S. missile tracking stations in South Africa, despite the American ban on arms to the African nation.

Officials said, however, that if South Africa should retaliate against the tracking stations, the facilities could be duplicated elsewhere.

Five Astronauts Being Trained

RENO, Nev. (UPI)—Nine new astronauts practiced desert survival techniques in a remote sagebrush and sand area of Nevada today as part of an intensive five-day course to prepare them for the Gemini spacecraft programs.

The spacemen, working with mockups of the two-man space capsule, were expected to turn it into a shelter, fashion an Arab-style hood to protect them from the sun, travel, signal and find food and water.

They also faced snakes, scorpions, spiders and other hazards in the area, where temperatures at sand level recently have reached 130 degrees.

The astronaut trainees are civilians Neil A. Armstrong and Elliot M. See Jr.; Air Force Maj. Frank Borman; Air Force Capt. Edward H. White II, Air Force Capt. James A. McDivitt; Air Force Capt. Thomas E. Stafford; Navy Lt. Cmdr. John Young; Navy Lt. Cmdr. James A. Lovell Jr., and Navy Lt. Charles Conrad Jr.

Ellender Asks Tax Cut For US

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., has urged the State Department to ask the Italian government to exempt an American office building in Rome from a $15,102 annual tax.

Ellender noted that Italians stationed in Washington are exempt from the local sales tax. The Louisiana Democrat made the statement Monday in a hearing statement Monday in a hearing on the State Department budget.

Stranger Shot In Dallas Alley

DALLAS (UPI)—H. L. Bogan, 23, apparently thought it was a joke when someone came up behind him in a Dallas alley and said, "Halt, who goes there?" "A stranger," Bogan answered. Bogan was reported in fair condition in a Dallas hospital with a full charge of buckshot in his back.
